

Aaron Lowe (IL)
Chaplain

Aaron Lowe is an experienced political professional with a background in communications, fundraising, operations, and organizing in campaigns and government. He currently serves on the staff of Emanuel “Chris” Welch, the first African American Speaker of the House in the history of Illinois, where he works to develop, execute, and communicate legislative agendas and initiatives for the Speaker and members of the Democratic majority in the Illinois House of Representatives.